Diamond Unique Rejuvenating Power Cupping System

Facial Cupping treats the area around the skin cell called the extracellular matrix. The extracellular matrix is a filter system made up of connective tissue, lymphatic fluid and is the filter of all products going in or out of the cells.

The matrix therefore is where stagnation develops from the build up of congestion around the skin cells. Diamond Facial Cupping machine is unique in its ability to clear the matrix through Ancient techniques combined with modern technology. Toxins which can block the filter system of the matrix leads to congestion and stagnation.

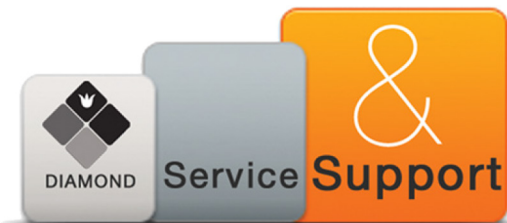

The Diamond Facial Cupping effect causes the movement of the matrix fluid which helps to relieve the blockages and congestion. This is rich and pampering experience, warm and sensual treatment which is beneficial to the matrix and rejuvenating to the skin.
